LANGFORD family, of Allington, Gresford. The pedigree books state that this family came from Leicestershire to Ruthin with one of the Greys, lords of that place. The earliest records of the family in Wales show that JOHN LANGFORD was steward of Dyffryn Clwyd and constable of Ruthin castle between 1403 and 1412. Edmund, lord Grey, granted the receivership of the lordship of Ruthin to RICHARD LANGFORD, 1441, son of the said John, and the constableship of Ruthin castle to him and his son EDWARD, 1447. Richard Langford d. 12 July 1466, two years after his wife, Alice, daughter and heiress of Howell ap Griffith ap Morgan of Hopedale, widow of John ap Richard Wettenhale. Their heir was the Edward Langford mentioned above. Henry VI granted him the offices of escheator and attorney of the lordship of Denbigh, for his personal service against Richard, duke of York, 4 Feb. 1460. He m. Ellen (d. 1465), daughter of John Dutton, and d. 5 Nov. 1500. It was their son, JOHN LANGFORD, that first resided at Allington as the husband of Catherine, daughter and heiress of William ap David (d. 1476) ap Griffith of that place. He d. 26 Dec. 1531 [WELSH BIOGRAPHY ONLINE]
